Aftermarket Autolube Kits Product Retirement Notification

The RK-09152-1 through RK-09152-11E Autolube kits will be retired at the end of 2021. Existing inventory of those kits will be available for the remainder of 2021. Order acceptance based upon current inventory at the time of ordering. Once inventory has been depleted, they will no longer be available. The four point Autolube kit with 36" lines, RK-09152-12, will continue to be available.

FWAL NoLube™ Kits and RH Release FWAL Product Retirement Notification

Due to unforeseen supply chains issue, the FWAL NoLube™ service repair kits and right-hand release option will no longer be available after January 1st, 2022. NoLube™ FWAL users can update to the newer LowLube locks and install a lubrication tube that allows for easier lubrication. This is the current production FWAL lock system. Contact your SAF-HOLLAND account representative for the latest kit numbers to update your FWAL lock. Related to the NoLube™ lock supply constraint is the availability of the right hand release FWAL, which will also no longer be available. The retirement of the right-hand release FWAL applies to both the North American and Global markets. The FWAL NoLube™ was retired as a product in April 2018. Retired North American service kits include the following;

- RK-AL-A-L
- RK-AL-A-80-L
- RK-AL-11078
